

24" Unprotected Port Standard Oil Containment Boom

What is a 24" Unprotected Port Standard Oil Containment Boom and who is it for?

This Enviro-USA boom is highly recommended by Port Authorities as the appropriate size for Unprotected Ports due to its bigger float which offers a higher freeboard that will prevent splash over due to windy conditions and choppy water. The primary users are spill response contractors.

Why use Oil Containment Booms?

Oil containment booms are used in water as a first response to an oil spill or by Spill Response Contractors to divert, control and maintain an oil spill. Once the spill has been contained the contractor will then proceed to recuperate and clean up the oil.

Where are 24" Unprotected Port Standard Oil Containment Booms used?

Enviro-USA's 24" Unprotected Port oil boom can also be used in:

- Unprotected Marinas
- Harbors
- Gulfs
- Beaches
